History of the Mirage

Making up an order for the engravers

Did L. H. S. publish a yearbook before 1906? . . . . The earliest the staff found was the Chronicle . . . . twenty-four pages with one photograph . . . . The annual appeared also as the X-Ray, the Orbit . . . . the 1909 Debris had our editor's dad, Earl Benadum, on its staff . . . . The name Mirage originated in 1910 . . . . a little booklet with eight photographs . . . . Charles Drinkle, Sr. was on the staff . . . . many prominent Lancastrians were once staff members . . . . Between 1911 and 1918 the Mirage appeared several times a year . . . . Mary Kern (Mrs. Burnham at the "Y") edited the 1920 book . . . . the present standard size was adopted that year . . . .

the Mirage

Those were the days of fiery debates and literary societies . . . ask R. C. Smart about the debates . . . . Miss Amerine sponsored two volumes (before she became Mrs. Aten) . . . . Mr. Neff took the reins in 1923 . . . . remained Mirage adviser for twenty years . . . . The '24 annual boasted the first leatherette cover . . . . the book grew as the school increased from 250 to 1000 students . . . . The Mirage has survived its second war with Miss Johnson at the helm . . . . 1945 saw it established as a school-time project with an hour and a room of its own . . . . The staff bows to tradition as it presents your 1947 Mirage . . . . one more volume of L. H. S. history.

To graduate, or not to graduate, that is the question:—
Whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer,
The slams and knocks of outrageous lessons,
Or to take arms against a sea of troubles,
And by quitting end them.—To quit,—to study
No more; and by quitting to end
The headache and the thousand natural shocks,
That scholars are heir to,— 'tis a consumation
Devoutly to be wish'd.
To quit? Perchance to work;—ay, there's the rub;
To wash, to iron, to sweep and maybe scrub,
For even in our long vacation,
We sometimes work beyond our expectation.

There's the respect
That makes school of such long life,
For who on foot would plod with Caesar and Cicero,—
The L. H. S. ponies ran away you know—
When he himself might pleasure take,
At the Country Club,
But that the dread of real work
Makes us rather bear those ills we have,
Than run the risk of those we know not of!
Thus conscience does make alumni of us all.

Class History

GRADUATES WRITE FINIS TO THE TALE OF HIGH SCHOOL

On September 13, 1943, we, the Class of '47, entered Lancaster High School as a part of the student body. We were all very bewildered and more than slightly overwhelmed as we entered the large auditorium and were confronted by so many strange faces. We were no more unfamiliar with our surroundings than Mr. Schaaf, however, for this was his first year to serve as principal.

The freshman girls were entertained most hospitably by the Big Sister Club at the annual Freshman Mixer. Freshman boys were given a rousing welcome by the upper classmen.

After the passage of several more weeks, we were established well enough to hold a class election, and our officers were as follows: Joe Henwood, president; Carl Christian, vice president; Bob Faigley, secretary; and Dorothy Kane, treasurer.

Luck certainly seemed to be with us that year, for there were neither mid-year nor final exams, due to the fact that the Christmas vacation was extended two weeks because of the influenza epidemic.

On November 5, Virginia Jessup served as freshman attendant to the Queen at the Homecoming Game.

Freshmen had their first glimpses of social life when, on February 8, the freshman party was held in the gym. Many new acquaintances were made, and everyone enjoyed himself thoroughly.

The Student Council led several very successful drives to aid in the war effort. Among these were drives for the Junior Red Cross, for the collection of sales tax stamps, and the waste paper salvage. The high school also supported the March of Dimes.

Although September 5 arrived all too soon and we realized our summer vacation was over, we returned with a new title — very proud sophomores. At first we had a great deal of fun "hounding" the "freshies," but the novelty eventually wore off.

New grade cards were adopted this year, and also one-hour classes. The cards showed a complete picture of each pupil's standing in his various subjects.

Class offices were dominated by boys, with Joe Henwood serving as president; Richard Hritz, vice president; and Harold Fultz, secretary-treasurer.

Shirley Gordon was elected as sophomore attendant at the Homecoming Game.

The popular song-fests were initiated that year, and were thoroughly enjoyed by everyone. A little music always seemed to put us in the right mood for the day's work.

Class History

AN OLD CUSTOM LONG

We were very proud to have as our very own a youth canteen, sponsored by the Lancaster Junior Chamber of Commerce and Lancaster High students. The Gay-Teen Club sponsored several very interesting entertainers, including the "Early Worm," from radio station WBNS, Columbus.

Publication of our school paper, the Purple Pepper, was resumed, and we were always eager to read its interesting accounts of school activities.

To culminate the year's activities, we sophomores, on April 13, presented the Sophomore Talent Program. We were very proud of the talented members of our class.

The following fall, on September 4, we entered the portals of Lancaster High with the realization that we were upper classmen. Boys again dominated the class officers, and the following were elected: Richard Hritz, president; Joe Henwood, vice president; and Harold Fultz, secretary-treasurer.

We were represented by Vivian Johnson at the homecoming celebration of the Coshocton game. The Homecoming Dance, sponsored by the Student Council, was a hugh suecess.

On December 13 we presented our first play, "Ghost Train," directed by Mr. Johnson. It really went over with a "bang."

The annual Junior-Senior Reception was held on May 17, and was the last get-together activity for upper classmen. This traditional event was an outstanding success.

On September 3 we entered Lancaster High as seniors. Serving as class leaders for this memorable year were: Don Van Horn, president; Joe Henwood, vice president; and Dorothy Kane, secretary-treasurer.

The Senior Ball was an event of November 22.

Virginia Jessup was chosen to reign as Homecoming Queen, with Dorothy Kane as her senior attendant.

The senior play, "A Date With Judy", scheduled for January 30, had such a large sale of tickets that a repeat performance was required on February 1. This precedent-setting production was directed by Miss Yauger.

Events now moved swiftly toward the close of school. The Junior-Senior Reeeption was enjoyed on May 23, followed by Class Night on May 29

The Bacealaureate service was on June 1, and Commencement of June 5 brought our school days to an appropriate ending.

Thus a sojourn of four happy years comes to a close; and we are all certain that the experiences gained during our years in high school will help us meet with clear eye and resolute heart the difficulties and problems of the future.

—Norma Jean Franke

Class Prophecy

IN PASSING IS THE TRADITIONAL CLASS NIGHT

March 10, 1962

Dear Diary,

Four years of my life I have spent preparing myself for a career as a teacher. Instead I turned to the writing of fiction and have been pounding away at my typewriter in my New York apartment for six years. Fate has dealt kindly with me as two of my books are best sellers today. They are "The Ghoul in the Sun" and "A Good Egg and Myself." I now feel that the time has come to write the great Amercian novel. Carefully have I laid the plot and compiled the data. This book entitled "Come Home With the Wind" deals with the life of the world's greatest soldier and adventurer, a man named Kilroy. It has been said that he fought in both theatres of the war at the same time. Since the end of World War II, Kilroy hasn't been seen; but it is rumored that he is living as a recluse somewhere in Ohio. Hoping that he will collaborate with me on this book, I am getting ready to set forth with only one thought in mind, "I must find Kilroy." As it may take several months and miles of travel to find this man, I decided to combine my trip with pleasure and look up members of my graduating class of '47.

Quite a few of my classmates are here in New York. I have been reading of them in the papers and have seen a few of them in my jaunts about town.

Harold Fultz is now president of the United States.

Eleven members of my class, Richard Brandon, Paul Shonk, Homer Beavers, Paul Botts, Frank Combs, John Cooperider, Bob Shahan, Pearl David Miller, Paul Kelsey, Charles Creiglow, and Russell Campbell are making head-lines this very day. This party headed by Captain Brandon, with Charles Creiglow and Russell Campbell as photographers, have just returned from an expedition to Glocca Morra. They report the finding of a new island with lavender ice bergs, blue polar bears, and pink snow.

Jack Boerstler high lights today's sport page. He just became the Heavy Weight Boxing Champion of the world at Madison Square Garden last night.

Among others who have made good in the world of sports are Don Van Horn, Harry Short, Bob Hughes, Lloyd Goodman, and Dick Roush. They are with the St. Louis Cardinals and won the World Series last year.

Kenny Shouldis, Ted Pursell, Harold Douglas, Herb Evans, Donald Fox, and Charles Reed have turned to professional football. They won the championship last fall playing with the New York Giants.

Dick Smith become the country's favorite jockey when he booted home "Cheese Burger" to win the Kentucky Derby. "Cheese Burger" is from the stables of Bob Kitchen who is still living in Lancaster.

Darrell Driver has become a public figure since he won the race at the Indianapolis Speedway last spring.

I also read that Donna Stahly was elected to go to Paris where she will compete for the world's championship in ping pong.

Bart Hagemeyer, Bill Holcombe, Dick Guth, and Charles Drinkle now form the board of Atomic control of the United States.

Today the "S. S. Queen for a Day" landed and brought back two Navy nurses, Joan Cassley and Pat Carpenter, from China. Also a party of Red Cross workers, namely, Betty Clark, Eleanor Cole, Judy Gehres, Betty Lou Grant, Luella Hansel, and La Donna Hizey.

I learned, too, that Bill Nolder is now head of the F. B. I. Among his assistants are Paul Farrow, Rick Macioci, Noel Martin, Bill Milbaugh, and David Miller.

Bob Thrash is the chief of the finger-printing department. With him work Harry Smith, Jack Wilkins, Fred White, Jerry Waits, and John Todhunter. Both Bob and Bill have promised me their full cooperation in my desperate search for Kilroy.

Dear Diary,

I have chartered a plane, "The Holy Cow," and will soon be on my way to Ohio. I was surprised to find that Jack Eads was the manager there. My plane was being serviced by several men who looked familiar. They turned out to be Harry Miller, Jim Mills, and Neil Moore, all expert plane mechanics. The pilot of the plane was none other than Freddy Potts.

PROPHESYING WAS

In the waiting room stood a group of social workers who were returning from a two-weeks convention. They were Norma Jean Franke, Virginia Ochs, Starlie Yenrick, Virginia Reed, Joan Grimm, and Mary Catherine Reid. I was delighted to see them. They told me of the whereabouts of more of the class.

Catherine and Kathleen Nicolia were appearing on Broadway in a special skating act. Their business manager is Dick Layman.

Karl Plinke and Bob Hartman were turning out hit tunes in Tin Pan Alley, their latest being "When the Gooses Come Back to Massachusetts." Their accompanying vocalists were Lois Sweeney and Jean Ann Campbell.

Dave Straten was operating a day nursery for dogs, right in the heart of the city. The girls told me he was a howling success. His assistant, and a whiz as a dog sitter, was Donald Courtright.

None of the girls, however, had seen Kilroy.

I said goodbye, boarded by plane, and in a few minutes was circling my old home town. Here below me spread a city. Upon landing I was told its population was now 5,000,000.

When I purchased a paper "The Forest Rose Bugle," I read of many of my classmates. This paper is owned and edited by Dick Benadum, with Ted Mason his assistant. The staff of reporters consists of Carlene Page, Donald Eaton, Rose Hauser, Phyllis Gerken, Eloise Green, and Orris Mumford. Elva Jean Coleman and Joyce Enoch head the staff of commercial artists. Jim Schisler's famous cartoons appear daily. Other office personnel are Luella Appel, Mary Ann Barnes, Mary Frances Beck, Leo Freisner, and Kathleen Liff.

On the business page I read the advertisement of Donald Holowell, "The Friendly Undertaker."

William Thomas, Theodore Bailey, Richard Brenstuhl, William Alwood, William Asher, and Grover Azbell were the up-and-coming lawyers of the city.

Bill Freeman, Marvene Hammack, Bill Rife, and Jack Smith aren't very well liked. They have become dentists.

The Householder Department Store is the largest in town, with Dick Householder as the owner and manager. In his office are such efficient persons as Joann Bobbitt, Norma Jean Bushee, Mary Lou Bussert, Barbara Sherrick, Betty Swartz, Patty Thomas, Elva Yantes, and Jean Thomas. As his buyers he employs Betty Bender, Phyllis Bobblett, Betty Stump, Charles Russell, and Jack Reynolds. This store must sell everything from bailer wire to diamond-studded cuff links.

George Bauman owns the largest meat packing business in Ohio. Some of his office personnel are Bessie Bowman, his secretary; Jim Dickson, assistant manager; John Murphy, buyer; and Bill Nutter, the sales manager.

Ed Collins has become the largest building contractor in the city. His secretaries are Bonnadell Yantes and Joan Briggs.

I also saw in the paper that Bob Kinser is managing the Lyric Theatre, wherein appear more successful classmates. These are their real names and not their stages names. In the movies appear such glamour girls as Carol Alfred, Marilyn Neff, Norma Faye Ball, and Joan Graybill. As dancers on the stage we have Betty Lou Newman, Kathleen Pickering, and Patsy Rodgers. Donald Metzger, Ronald Metzger, and Kathryn Schriner are billed in a terrific tumbling act.

Clutching my precious paper, I hailed a cab and started for the Lancaster Hotel. Upon arrival I found it was managed by Jack Clemens and Edgar Turner. In the main dining room, seated at a table discussing their children and husbands, were Mrs. Harry Cook, formerly Louise Bookman; Mrs. John Bowland, formerly Yvonne Mast; Mrs. Franklin Upp, formerly Peggy Williamson; and Mrs. Howard Martin, formerly Pat McKittrick. Afterwards I learned their husbands were all members of the Chamber of Commerce of this fair city. Since they have been in office, no dark clouds have been allowed to float over Lancaster.

After being invited to join these girls, I really learned of everyone, everyone but Kilroy, that is.

George Bloom is Ohio's new Governor. Charles Carr has been re-elected as mayor.

Ohio's senators are now Beryl Shaeffer and Bob

Shaw. Their heated debates have made history.

Jerry Dillon has become the most popular radio news commentator.

Mary Lou Taylor has gained fame through a book of verse recently published.

Rev. Reuben Mondhank's church choir has become very famous. Among its members are Virginia Bell, Marjorie Wolf, Jeannine Noble, Barbara McLaughlin, Velma Beougher, Shirley Walter, and Mary Lou Hill. Bette Leohner is the accomplished organist of the church and Tommy Sain the director.

Recently returned from studying in Europe are Joanne Geiser, the famous artist; and Annie Lou Raymond, the famed musician.

Tom Jenkinson is now superintendent of Lancaster schools. Among other new teachers are Marietta Emmons, Sue Stoughton, Luann Robinette, Vivian Lape, Margaret Moyer, Dorothy Jones, and Lois Halderman.

The realtors of the city of Tom Henry, Gene Kneller, and Dick Lane. The girls said this trio had just sold Mt. Pleasant to a passing tourist.

Clarence DeVault and Kenny Gardner are partners in a huge dairy farm. They have developed a fine herd of polka-dotted Holsteins.

Walter Sheets and Earl Spaun can loudly sing the praises of "The Egg And I." They have the finest chicken farm in the country.

Raymonda Delong owns the most exclusive dress shop in town. The girls didn't know whether her models sold her gowns or her gowns sold her models. Anyway, the models, Ruth Clark, Barbara Jeffers, Virginia Borchers, Ruth Cavanaugh, Betty Ann Doughty, and Evelyn Fauble, are all engaged to be married.

Bob Gossett and Ed Graf have a large manufacturing business. They have been swamped with orders for crocheted bicycles.

Doris Beddow, Marilyn Bixler, Norma Jean Bloom, Betty Feckley, and Esther King are telephone operators. With telephones operated by atomic energy, these girls really have a skilled profession.

Lancaster High's new coach is Bud Hritz and they haven't lost a basketball game in three years.

Joe Henwood and Carl Christian are both coaches at O. S. U. They have become quite popular and have enjoyed many successes.

Gladys Smeck is giving flying lessons to the ladies at the airport. Her most promising students, now commercial pilots, are June Westfall, Clara Smith, Charlotte Osterhage, Mary Burt, Betty Ann Rudisill, Betty Shaeffer, and Virginia Kline.

Helen Hendrickson has a chain of beauty shops in our city. Her managers are Jean McBroom, Demaris McCormick, Anna Marie Miller, Joan Myers, and Louise Reliford.

The shortage of nurses has been greatly alleviated by the addition of members of the class of '47. We have Jacqueline Rife, Phyllis Robinett, Virginia Schorr, Rose Marie Sellers, Vivian Johnson, Dorothy Kane, and Virginia Jessup.

Dorothy Shaeffer and Joann Stump are the two sweetest girls in town. They have a French pastry shop on Main Street.

Mabel Suiter and Betty Summers are the only two lady barbers in town. Their business is quite . . . .quite!

None of the girls at the luncheon knew anything about Kilroy. Mrs. Harry Cook said she had been several places about town where he had written "Kilroy was here," but she had just missed him. Mrs. John Bowland said that her husband, Dr. Bowland, had an unidentified man as a patient in the hospital. When I heard this, I promptly bade the girls good-bye and thanked them for the luncheon and information. I took a cab and rushed to the hospital. Upon inquiry, I learned from Vivian Johnson that the man had been indentified as Kilroy. He was quite ill but would recover. It seems he had been rooming with a friend. Coming home late one night his room-mate Richard somebody refused to open the door and let him in. Kilroy was found next morning suffering from shock and exposure.

All is well that ends well. I have found the whole class of '47. Each is successful in his field. Then, too, Kilroy has at last been found. I am a very happy person.

Class Poem

A CLASS POET IS STILL CHOSEN

Four years we've rambled through these halls,
And climbed the stairs between the calls
Of bells which hastened us to class.

Studies sent us forward o'er the years;
Teachers ever patient tried to calm the fears
Which often swelled within bewildered minds.

Love of fun we mingled with the serious parts;
Parties, plays, assemblies always won our hearts;
Our dances shook the rafters clean with joy.

Down in the gym full well the glee was run
When sport or game was played, and score was won;
While on the gridiron teammates fought for ground.

Above these mentioned treasures friends stand high:
Friends who've made us laugh some, perhaps sigh.
Down in our hearts they have a special place.

No more we'll ramble through these halls,
For we are hearing louder calls
That tell the time is here.
It's forty-seven! Adieu, Mater dear.

—Vivian Johnson

Class Will

. . . AND BEQUESTS ARE MADE

We, the Senior Class of 1947, believing that we are the best class ever to graduate from these halls of learning, and realizing that we must go forth into the adult world and prove our merits, do hereby declare this our last Will and Testament, and do bestow our most cherished possessions in the following manner:

Section I. To the faculty we bequeath our deepest thanks and appreciation for the help and understanding they so willingly gave.

Section II. To the juniors we leave our streaks of genius, our good times, our ability to put on good plays and all the other characteristics which have made us the "best-class-ever."

Section III. To the sophomores we bequeath all the dignity and privileges which accompany the title of "upperclassmen."

Section IV. To the freshmen we leave the long awaited release from the term "freshie"—and other similar abuses.

Section V. Ah—now to the incoming class of '51. We leave you an atom bomb to tinker with in your "spare time"—also a jar of unguentine —in case something goes wrong.

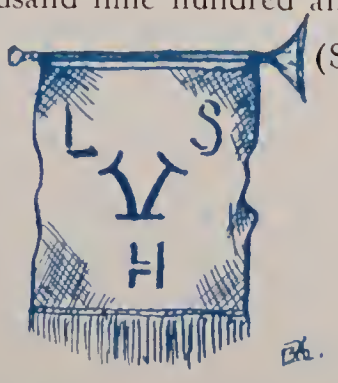
Section VI. To the janitors we bequeath a tidy sum of money which will be found collected in the light-shades of the various rooms. We've thrown in a few paper wads and paper-clips for good measure.

Section VII. We, Janet Courtright and Dick Brandon, to Connie Hermann and Bruce Boyer our leadership and willingness to serve.
I, Marilyn Neff, to Eleanor Clements my dark curly hair.
I, Bill Holcombe, to Carl Ruff my "chemistry complex."
We, Vivian Johnson and Bob Hughes, to Ann Vlerebome and Jim Slagle our agreeable dispositions.
I, Joanne Geiser, to Eleanor Bailey my artistic fingers.
We, Jean Ann Campbell and Don Van Horn, to Patty Van Gundy and Jack Hauser our friendliness.
I, Bob Hartman, to Donnie "Pee Wee" Stepleton some of my surplus height.
We, Norma Jean Franke and Charles Drinkle, to Lucy Turnbull and John Towt our superb brain power.
We, Kenny Shouldis and Jack Boerstler, co-captains of the football team, to next year's team our good sportsmanship and fighting spirit.
I, Karl Plinke, to Gene Cole my "silly sayings."
I, Joan Cassley, to Joan Henry my "peaches-and-cream" complexion.
We, Mary Lou Taylor and Pat Thomas, to Gert Eyman and Nancy Wells our athletic ability.
I, Joyce Enoch, to Evelyn Schilling my quietness.
I, Lois Sweeney, to Charlotte Valentine my singing ability.
I, Luann Robinette, to Shirley Freeland my "reet" clothes.
We, Bette Leohner and Harry Cook, to Barbara Beck and Jim Crook our dimpled smiles.
I, Bud Hritz, to Bill Arledge my ability to "slay-'em-with-a-glance."
We, Dorothy "Dopey" Jones and Carl Christian, to Marian Smith and Tom Reffitt our daneing feet.
I, Dick Guth, to any lively student of L.H.S. my vim, vigor, and vitality.
We, Carol Alfred and Bart Hagemeyer, to Virginia Simons and Sam DeMerell our dramatic abilities.
I, Ruth Clark, to Sherry Smith my sweet disposition.
I, Sue Stoughton, to Thelma Bailey my flirtatious ways.
We, Peggy Williamson and Dick Householder, to Jane Ann Pursell and Johnny Lerch our "contagious giggle."
I, Ginny Jessup, to Sue King my power over the men.
I, Tom Jenkinson, to any fun-loving student, my prankish ideas.

Section VIII. We the Class of 1947 bequeath to all future classes all the happiness and good fellowship we have had during our stay at Lancaster High School.

Section IX. Because of the valuable treasures being disposed of, we do hereby name Miss Plinkle, Mr. Montgomery, and Mr. Snedaker executors of this our last Will and Testament.

In witness whereof, we have set our hand and seal this fifth day of June in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and forty-seven.



(Signed)

Big Sisters

"Hey Sis, where do I go from here?"—one of the questions asked a "big sister" . . . . thats their job—getting new girls acquainted with Lancaster High School . . . . To start off . . . . the annual Big Sister Tea, September 6 . . . . after a good beginning, the Freshman Mixer in the gym, September 10 . . . . volley ball, ping pong, and dancing provided entertainment . . . . refreshments in the cafeteria . . . . Joyce Herdman welcomed the freshmen . . . . Members are chosen from the junior and senior girls.

"Little sisters" make friends at high school.

Band

TIME WAS WHEN THERE WAS NO BAND

Practice period comes four times a week on the stage.

Started in 1923 with twenty-five pieces, the band grew in public favor . . . Mr. Enoch directed in 1925 . . . with caps and capes it practiced one hour a week . . . Mr. Keller took over in 1932, with fifty strong . . . In 1939 Mr. McIntyre took the baton . . . new uniforms in 1940 . . . now, one of the top-notch bands of the state.

Row One—Kane, Brandon, Attendance Secretary; Creiglow, King, Mr. McIntyre, Hunter, Henry, Porter, McDavitt, Valentine, Freeman. Groves, Freeland, Rudisill. Los Caballeros

Candlelight and formal initiation . . . . waiting nerlleros . . . . Mexican fiesta at the shelter house—bur-vously to be ushered into the mysteries of Los Caba-ros, bands, bells, cactus, cockfights and bullfights . .
. . evening programs in 107 with dancing senoritas
. . . . games, songs, prizes . . . . Mexican Christmas with "Silent Night" and gifts in a pinata . . . . Spanish Club dates from 1935 . . . . Spanish has been taught in L. H. S. since the first world war.

Latin Club

Oldest club in High School . . . in existence since 1919
. . . must have an average of "B" or better to get into it . . . raw oysters for initiation—very "gooey" oysters
. . . "A Roman Wedding" was presented in assembly
—very entertaining . . . John Towt made an eloquent Cicero . . . missed two weeks of Latin because of play
. . . didn't complain . . . Miss Griffith's love of a good time always outstanding.

F. H. A.

Did you burn those biscuits again? . . . and you're in the F. H. A . . . Future Homemakers had a heavy schedule this year . . . collecting magazines for veterans at the Chillicothe hospital, besides sending them candy and popcorn balls . . . fixing baskets for the poor, sending boxes overseas . . . All work and no play? . . . You're wrong, the F.H.A. Valentine Dance was February 14 . . . no matter the job, you can always count on them.

Methalian Club . . .

A NEW NAME FOR THE DRAMASQUERS

Every other Tuesday, actors, readers, and "authors" gather to meditate in Room 201 . . . . Methalian Club evolved from the Dramatic and Dramasquers clubs . . . . supplies entertainment service for the city . . . . From Thanksgiving to Easter, you'll hear these Methalians presenting to the public their ideas or ideals . . . . willing to speak for any organization except a communistic one; or any subject except the atomic bomb . . . . re-organized this year . . . . Proud bearers of the honorary pin achieved 100 points in speech work . . . . The potential an' kinetic club of L.H.S. . . bigger an' better next year.

One-Act Plays

Extreme upper left, Gwendolyn (Carol Alfred) and Sam (David Miller) having their hourly "spat" in "Antic Spring" . . . . Upper center, Ginger (Louise Bookman) listening to her boy friend (David Crooks) recite poetry as Blossom (Nancy Rowlands) looks on ("Antic Spring") . . . . Upper right, Marijean Bruney brushing up on the coming play . . . . Upper left, Lorraine Turner, Clara Ruth Yeazel, and Doris White presenting a Methalian Club hit in the "Three Old Maids from Lynn" . . . . Lower left, Not hand-holding; Dave Miller receiving the final make-up touch from Joan McDavitt . . . . Extreme lower left, Betty Ann Rudisill treating Nancy Rowlands to a free rubdown (with make-up) . . . . Lower right, John Harvey (James Brown) getting trimmed down by the make-up supervisor, Miss Yauger.

Library Staff

WE MAY LIVE WITHOUT FRIENDS,
WE MAY LIVE WITHOUT BOOKS;

First-period staff enjoys a lull in a busy morning.

Do you know? . . . Our library was one of the new rooms opened in 1931 . . . it now has over five thousand books and seats one hundred and two students . . . Imagine, twenty-six years of students . . . students always talking too much . . . students always trying to "get by" with anything and everything . . . There's work to be done, too . . . checking books in and out, arranging them in the right shelves, ordering and cataloging new books . . . Many jobs keep our capable Miss Harris and her staff busy all year round.

Cafeteria Staff

. . . BUT CIVILIZED MAN CANNOT LIVE WITHOUT COOKS.

Meet the two who cook for an average of 250 people a day . . . Mrs. Peggy Snoke and Mrs. Maude Roberts . . . Hustle hustle! that's Miss Yauger buzzing around . . . Third-period girls do the "odd jobs" . . . fourteen girls serve the "mad mob" . . . shoving and pushing in the lines add to the appetites . . . "Rub-a-dub-dub, three men in a tub" . . . no, there are six dish-washers helping Mrs. Nina Flowers get things spic and span . . . That completes the day's work for a hardworking staff . . . but is a woman's work ever done?

Lunch is served daily to about two hundred.

Row One—Treisch, Dykes, Augg. Kimble, Boice. Row Two—Snyder, Freisner, McGinnis, Miss Yauger, Baucher, Behrens. Row Three—Schriver, Mrs. Flowers, McLaughlin, Swartz, Franke, Mrs. Snoke, Craft. Row Four—Hammack, Reed, Mrs. Roberts, Hooper, Moore, Hanki

Walter, Beougher, Clark, Emmons, Hizey, Campbell.

First Aid

"Are you tired, worn out, run down, feeling down and out?" . . . . Go to the first aid room . . . . a girl for every period — a nurse on Friday . . . . Get your "up and at 'em" treatment . . . . walk out as good as new.

MORE SERVICE GROUPS ARE

Office Staff

"Another pink slip! . . . . They can't do this to me!" . . . . Recording absence and tardy lists, typing letters, taking dictation, and alphabetizing names come under the work of the staff . . . . passing out detentions and acting as messengers are part of their job also.

Usherettes

"Tickets please" . . . . just the Usherettes ushering for school and city-wide entertainment in the auditorium . . . . 1947 marks their third year . . . . It's easy to spot them in their blue and white uniforms . . . . They draw lots for positions

ADDED TO ROSTER OF CLUBS

M. P. S. O.

The Moving Picture Organization does a "reely" important job in L.H.S. thirty-five boys helped Mr. Shower give approximately 1000 showings this year . . . . a number deserving the hand of every student . . . . The movies are always interesting and educational.

Girls' Athletic Club . . .

GONE ARE THE KNEE PADS AND BLOOMERS . . .

No bloomer girls of yesterday . . . shorts and T-shirts . . . girls' intramurals . . . intramural leaders yelling out teams . . . candy sales, White Christmas Dance without snow, competition in sale of basketball pencils . . . new friends on County Play Night — seniors play, juniors work . . . spring banquet in honor of departing seniors with club prophecy and will . . . awards . . . seniors "tickled pink" having earned the gold G.A.C. bracelet . . . Miss Gesling being a "good sport" to complete a perfect club year.

John Montgomery
Assistant Basketball and Football Coach

James Papritan
Assistant Football Coach

Barney Francis
Head Basketball and Football Coach

Earl Irick
Faculty Manager

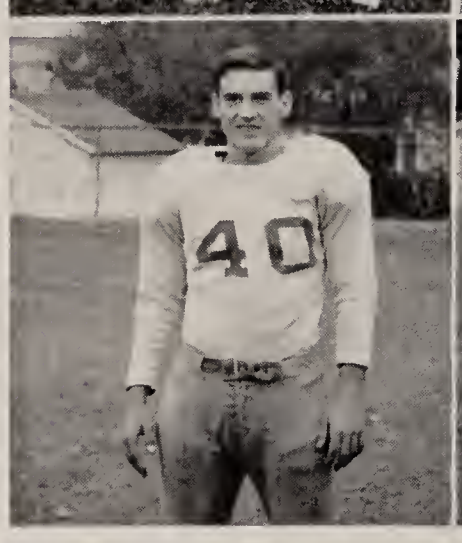
Anthony Martin
Baseball and Reserve Football Coach

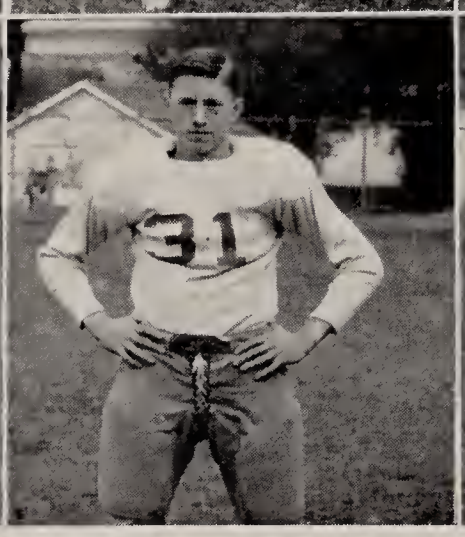
Under its new coach, Barney Francis, the football team had that "never die" spirit. Hampered all season long by injuries, the Golden Gales nearly pulled a couple of upsets, particularly that of the mighty Newark Wildcats to whom they lost only 26-13. Winning two, losing six and tying one, the "Breezes" improved with every game.

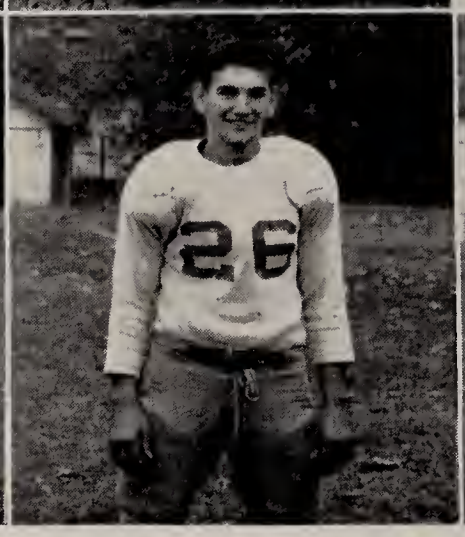
Potentially, we had a championship basketball team the past season, as did every team in the league. Playing in streaks, the Gales started off with a bang, slowed up, and then went wild again with five consecutive victories, only to lose their final five games. In a thrilling contest, Greenfield McClain defeated the Tornadoes in the tournament, 31-30.

With "Tony" Martin at the helm, the 1946 baseball team won four and lost the same number including tournament play. An interesting note was that they defeated the faculty, the first time in the history of L. H. S. In the tournament, they won from Jackson, but lost out to Portsmouth in their second game.

Gales Blow







Kenny Shouldis, guard.
Named on the C. O. L. first team. His hard, aggressive play won him the co-captaincy at the end of the season.

Joe Henwood, back.
Joe was our quarterback. He was hampered by injuries in midseason and his loss was a handicap to the Gales' offense.

Bill Asher, tackle.
A be-spectacled redhead was Bill. Did a fine job of playing his position. Always played for the good of the team.

Ed Graf, end.
A great guy! Although he didn't get into many games, Ed was always willing to do his best.

Herb Evans, back.
A first team man all year. He was consistent, playing forty-eight minutes in many of the games. We'll miss him next year.

Carl Christian, back.
One of the mainstays of the backfield. Also was injured in midseason. Lancaster sport fans will miss Carl next year.

John Murphy, end.
A quiet, likeable chap. Di n't see quite so much a tion, but when he did pla
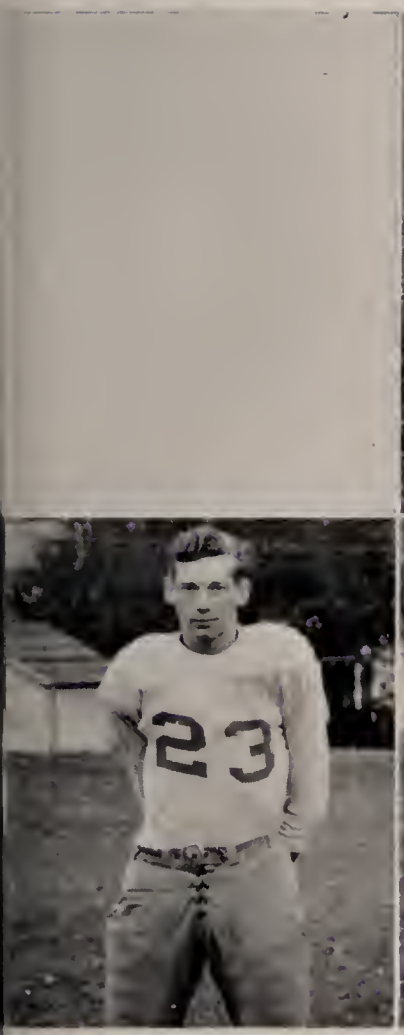
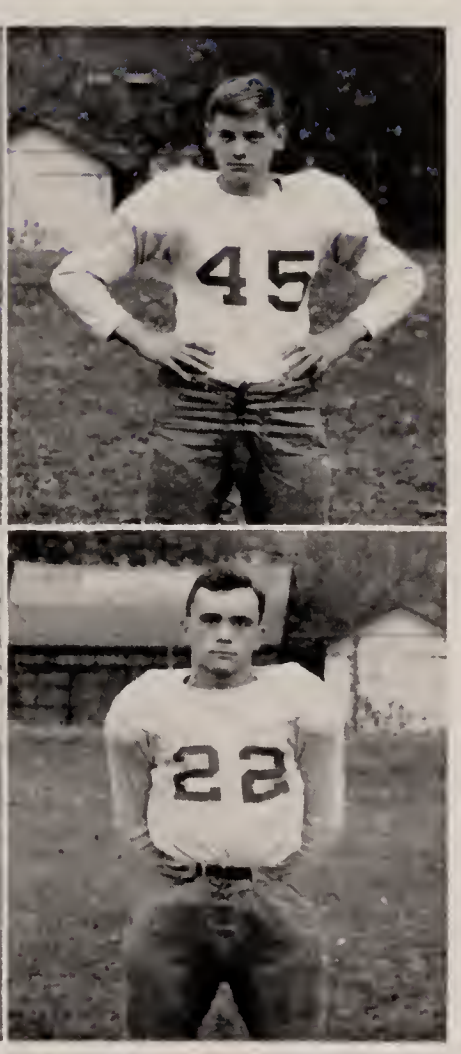
he always went full-steam

Below, left, a back breaks through the line for a gain in practice . . . . Center, the reserves practice their tackling as Coach Martin looks on. Three of the managers are Don Van Horn, Jim Spitzer, and Fritz Hoffman . . . . Below, right, "It's the end of the line."

. . . with senior strength





Harold Douglas, tackle.
Big and rugged best describes "Hal". His play was as "firey" as his red hair. Never failed to start a game.

Dave Straten, end.
"Big Dave" could always be counted on for a "bruising" game. His pass-catching will be hard to replace.

Don Fox, tackle.
Not so fast as a fox, but just as sly. Don was built for a tackle and fulfilled the job very well.

Jim Mills, end.
Injuries hurt Jim also. Just when he was coming into his own, he received an eye injury and couldn't play.

Jack Boerstler, guard.
Jack was diminutive, but a great player. He received the co-captaincy, an honor he certainly deserved.

Bob Shahan, back.
Always dependable, Bob seldom missed a practice. He capably performed at fullback. Too bad he won't be back next year.

Harry Cook, center.
The number-one center. When the team was in low spirits, it was always Harry who gave them that word of encouragement.

Below, left, Coach Francis watches Gene Cole toss a long one . . . . Center, the backfield goes through its plays . . . . Managers, below, are Bob Dunnington and Dick England . . . . At the right, the injured Carl chalks the lines.

With pride in the past

At the right, the invaluable assistants of Coach Francis are Mr. Papritan and Mr. Montgomery.

Senior stars

Bud Hritz—Without a doubt the coolest player on the team. Not a high scorer, Bud was strictly a team man, always taking advantage of the situation. Also, Bud was a good rebound man and one of the best foul shots seen around L. H. S. for a long time.

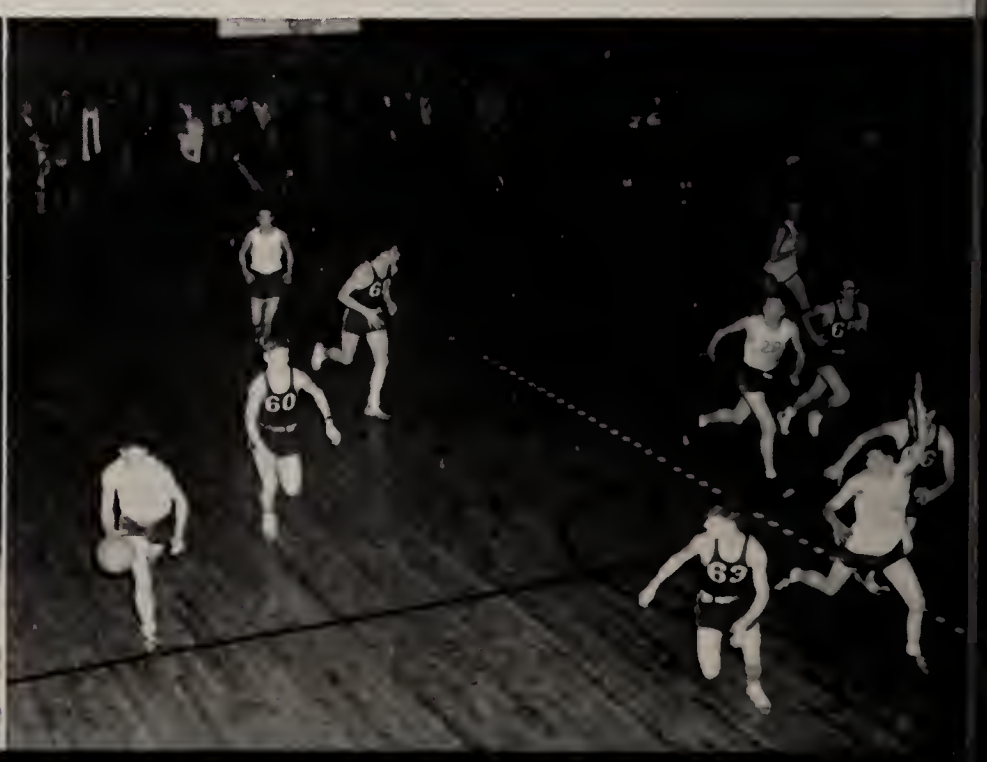
Harry Short—He really started to "roll" the last half of the season and became the most dependable man on the team. Harry's long shots kept the Tornadoes in many ball games. When the Gales were in trouble, Harry always saw that something was done about it.

Tom Jenkinson—Tom's consistent and hard-working play won him honorable mention on the C. O. L. team. Working from a guard spot, Tom was fast and a hard man to guard once he got going. Tom also was a very cool player, full of pep and energy.

Bob Hughes—Bob didn't see quite so much action, but his "fancy Dan" shooting was a wonderful thing to watch. In the Newark game he sank a couple of long shots that thrilled everyone and incidentally, nearly tied up the ball game.

Anxious players wait to see the outcome of this shot.

Lancaster fash breaks down the floor in their game with Dover.



flash and fade

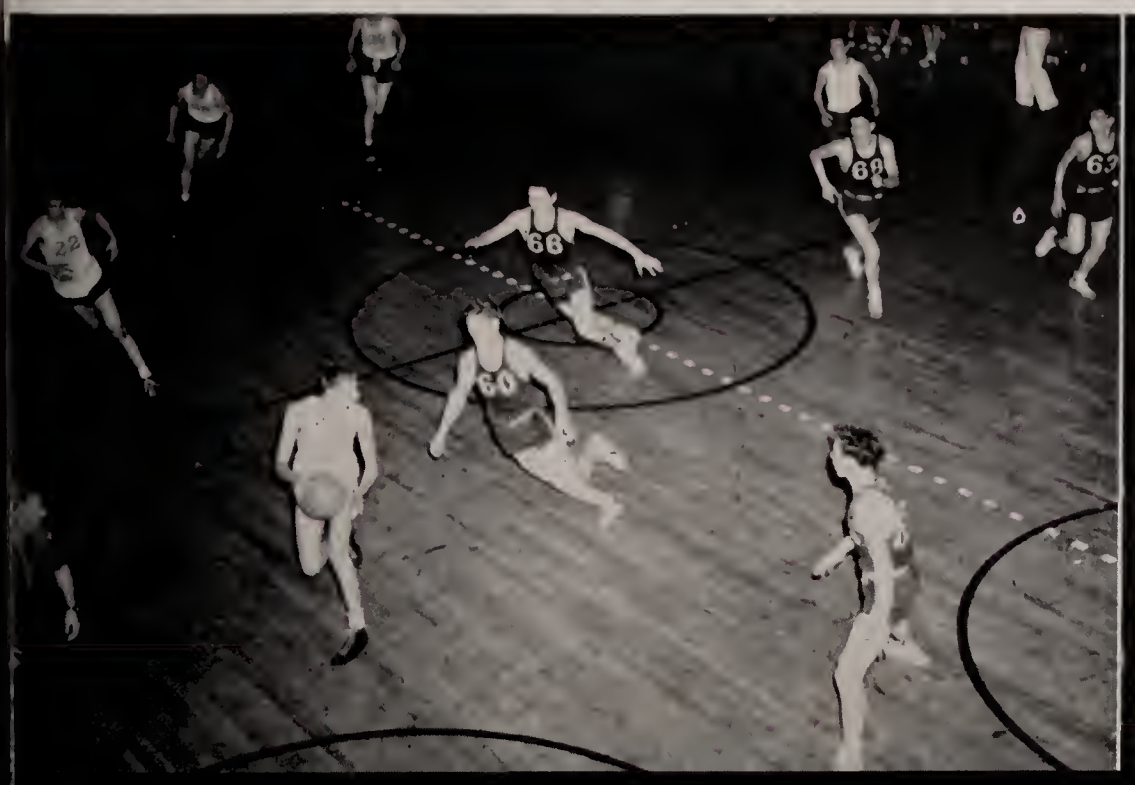
Carl Christian—The hardest worker at practice, and in a game, Carl will be missed next year. He, also, was not a high scorer. His points came just when they were needed. An all-round athlete, Carl was no doubt sorry to see his basketball days end.

Dave Straten—Dave did his job at center—and a good one at that. When he went up after the ball, you could bet that he would get it. His faking made him plenty tough to guard. Dave was always a card-shark on the out-of-town trips.

Harold Fultz—The team's high scorer, Harold was named on the C.O.L. second team. Harold garnered his points by driving for the basket—and he could really drive! His best effort for the year was against Mt. Vernon when he racked up 27 points.

Donald Metzger—Fast and able to jump—that was Donald. Not too tall, he could really get into the air. His speed was a great asset and he made the most of it. This was his first year of varsity competion; he did a good job.

This looks like a game of "race horse". The players seem to be scattered all over the floor.



The boys really had to jump against that tall Marietta Club.
